DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

1. Restriction is required under 35 U.S.C. 121 and 372.

This application contains the following inventions or groups of inventions which are not so linked as to form a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1.

In accordance with 37 CFR 1.499, applicant is required, in reply to this action, to elect a single invention to which the claims must be restricted.

Group I, claim(s) 1-7, 9-17, 30-52, drawn to a method of determining methylation pattern in a gene.

Group II, claim(s) 18-23, 26-29, 53-54 drawn to nucleic acids.

Group III, claim(s) 24, 55-57 (in part as it reads on nucleic acids) drawn to use of nucleic acids.

Group IV, claim(s) 25, drawn to method of manufacturing an array.

Group V, claim(s) 55-57 (in part as it reads on method) drawn to a use for the method of determining methylation patterns.

2. The inventions listed as Groups I-V do not relate to a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1 because, under PCT Rule 13.2, they lack the same or corresponding special technical features for the following reasons:

The special technical feature of Group I is analysis of methylation pattern of RASSF1A. Burbee et al. (J. Nat. Cancer Inst., 2001, vol. 93, pp. 691-9, cited on IDS) teach hypermethylation of RASSF1A in non small cell lung cancer (see abstract and figure 4). Thus, the technical feature linking the recited groups I-V does not constitute a special technical feature as defined by PCT Rule 13.2, as it does not define a contribution over the prior art.

Further Restriction Requirement

3. Each group named above is subject to further restriction. Applicant is required to further elect a specific gene and corresponding SEQ ID NO or a specific combination of gene and SEQ ID NO to which the claims will be limited to. This is NOT an election of species. The claims are written in Markush-type format. According to PCT Rule 13.2 and to the guidelines in Section (f)(i)(A) and Section (f)(i)(B)(1) of Annex B of the PCT Administrative instructions, all alternatives of a Markush group must have a common property or activity and a common structure. The nucleic acid sequences of the abovementioned claims each have a different chemical structure and do not share a common structure. Furthermore, the nucleic acid sequences do not share a common property or activity. Upon election of any group that contains any of the aforementioned claims, Applicant is required to elect one of the members of the group set forth in the claim, as set forth above. This is not an election of species, but rather an election of a distinct invention, owing to the functional differences between the members of the Markush-like group. Absent evidence to the contrary, each such nucleotide sequences are presumed to represent an independent and distinct invention, subject to restriction requirement pursuant to 35 USC 121 and 37 CFR 1.141. By statute, “[i]f two or more independent and distinct inventions are claimed in one application, the Commissioner may require the application to be restricted to one of the inventions.” 35 U.S.C. 121. Pursuant to this statute, the rules provide that “[i]f two or more independent and distinct inventions are claimed in a single application, the examiner in his action shall require the applicant... to elect that invention to which his claim shall be restricted.” 37 CFR 1.142 (a). See also 37 CFR 1.141(a). It is noted that claims encompass many subcombinations usable together in a single combination and also separately usable. The subcombinations are separately usable as evidenced by their presentation in the alternative within the claims. Further, subcombination have separate utility and thus are distinct. Therefore, applicant is required to elect a single invention, corresponding to the elected group. Where applicant elects a subcombination and claims thereto are subsequently found allowable, any claim(s) depending from or otherwise requiring all the limitations of the allowable subcombination will be examined for patentability in accordance with 37 CFR 1.104. See MPEP § 821.04(a).

4. It is noted that claim 8 has not been placed in a group, claim 8 is an improper multiple dependent claim. If applicant amends the improper multiple dependencies, the claim will be placed in the appropriate group.

5. Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include (i) an election of a species or invention to be examined even though the requirement may be traversed (37 CFR 1.143) and (ii) identification of the claims encompassing the elected invention.

The election of an invention or species may be made with or without traverse. To preserve a right to petition, the election must be made with traverse. If the reply does not distinctly and specifically point out supposed errors in the restriction requirement, the election shall be treated as an election without traverse.

6. The examiner has required restriction between product and process claims. Where applicant elects claims directed to the product, and the product claims are subsequently found allowable, withdrawn process claims that depend from or otherwise require all the limitations of the allowable product claim will be considered for rejoinder. All claims directed to a nonelected process invention must require all the limitations of an allowable product claim for that process invention to be rejoined.

In the event of rejoinder, the requirement for restriction between the product claims and the rejoined process claims will be withdrawn, and the rejoined process claims will be fully examined for patentability in accordance with 37 CFR 1.104. Thus, to be allowable, the rejoined claims must meet all criteria for patentability including the requirements of 35 U.S.C. 101, 102, 103 and 112. Until all claims to the elected product are found allowable, an otherwise proper restriction requirement between product claims and process claims may be maintained. Withdrawn process claims that are not commensurate in scope with an allowable product claim will not be rejoined. See MPEP § 821.04(b). Additionally, in order to retain the right to rejoinder in accordance with the above policy, applicant is advised that the process claims should be amended during prosecution to require the limitations of the product claims. Failure to do so may result in a loss of the right to rejoinder. Further, note that the prohibition against double patenting rejections of 35 U.S.C. 121 does not apply where the restriction requirement is withdrawn by the examiner before the patent issues. See MPEP § 804.01.
